

As the Dominatrix with a Difference, with formal qualifications, Your Money Mistress has trained thousands of people in the skills required for a healthy Mind, Body and Wallet. Coming from a broken home and buying her first property at 21, she knows how healthy intimacy affects mental, physical and financial fitness.

With her training:

- Long time smokers have given up smoking
- Wealthy couples realised their lifestyles were sending them backwards
- Single mums have bought investment properties
- Workplaces have healthier staff who realise that more money doesn't fix 'the problem'.

Her professional yet humorous delivery of sensitive issues (such as STDs: sexually transmitted debt) has indeed changed peoples' lives and helped save marriages. She looks forward to showing your organisation how more love and less debt improves productivity in the workplace.

"Your Money Mistress addressed our gathering with humor as she explained how intimacy & personal financial health affects productivity in the workplace. Her entertaining, novel approach to these sensitive topics enabled the audience to relax and learn as her pearls of wisdom gave much food for thought. We look forward to having her back again."

Bondi Chamber of Commerce

"Your Money Mistress is a must see! She has you laughing, has no qualms about sharing her innermost experiences and most of all, wants us all to have more love, less debt and less stress. There were men and women, young and old in the audience and we all came away feeling great about being able to enrich our own lives with what she shared."

Tricia Carson, Critique Bookkeeping
